

2021 SPRING VOL 1

HUMAN RIGHTS NEWS

ELTE European Human Rights LLM Alumni Newsletter

TAKE A LOOK AT THIS EDITION'S
ISSUE:

*Welcome Note
Call for Papers
Events*

WELCOME NOTE FROM OUR DEAN

Prof. Dr. Pál Sonnevend

Welcome to the spring issue of our e-newsletter. I'm thrilled about this issue because it's our first time launching this new way of communication. The COVID-19 outbreak has taught us that keeping our community together is an essential mission for our Faculty. I believe that this newly launched newsletter helps us to stay in touch and inform you about our events which can bring us closer – at the moment only virtually though. Of course, if you have any news or information you wish to share with the group, feel free to share it with our editorial board, and we can help you spread the word. Please email us at llm-admin@ajk.elte.hu.

WEBINAR ON "FUNDAMENTAL VALUES OF THE EU: RULE OF LAW, DEMOCRACY AND HUMAN RIGHTS"

ELTE University organizes a webinar on "Fundamental values of the EU: rule of law, democracy and human rights" for PhD students and postdoctoral researchers with the financial support of the EU Jean Monnet Module.

The one-day webinar will be organized via Zoom on 30 April or 14 May 2021 (tbc).

Participants are expected to present their research fitting in the broad theme of fundamental values of the EU, including rule of law, democracy and human rights in a 15-min long presentation, followed by a debate. Participants will also have the opportunity to submit their research to an edited volume published by ELTE University. The papers are expected to be finalized and submitted in a form ready for publication by the end of June.

Application deadline:

11 April 2021

Application:

Please send a CV, a 500-word long abstract and the title of your presentation to Dr Katalin Sulyok at FundamentalValuesELTEConf@gmail.com.

MORE INFORMATION ON THE WEBINAR IS AVAILABLE HERE

ELTE LAW JOURNAL

2020/1

ELTE LJ

ELTE LAW
EÖTVÖS LORÁND UNIVERSITY

CALL FOR PAPERS

ELTE Law Journal

ELTE Law Journal aims to be a regional attracting a Hungarian and a regional and international readership, including scholars, law-makers, and practitioners. This aim is also reflected by the international composition of the Advisory Board, which provides support and advice for the Editorial Board.

Contust us at www.eltelawjournal.hu

ELTE Law Journal invites you to submit original articles that explore contemporary, practical issues in the field of private law, criminal law, constitutional and administrative law, international law and European law. We have a strong preference for submissions with a comparative approach and for articles exploring legal issues from the perspective of European law and/or international law.

TOWARDS A SUSTAINABLE CONSTITUTIONAL PLURALISM IN EUROPE. CONSTITUTIONAL COURTS AND THE EUROPEAN COURT OF HUMAN RIGHTS.

The ELTE Faculty of Law Department of Constitutional Law – together with the Department of International Law – organises a workshop on the paper „Towards a sustainable constitutional pluralism in Europe. Constitutional courts and the European Court of Human Rights” by Davide Paris (University of Foggia).

- Discussant: Pál Sonnevend
- The discussion is led by Eszter Bodnár.
- The workshop series is led by Márta Dezső professor emerita.

The event was made possible by the generous support of the ELTE Scientific Council.

Register here